What is British Science Week?

Engage

- A ten-day celebration of science, technology, engineering and maths (STEM).
- Occurs annually in March and will be 6-15 March 2026
- An opportunity to raise the profile of science in school.
- A variety of activities, events, resources, and more available www.britishscienceweek.org

Top tips from teachers

Engage

Share the responsibility of organising with a group of teachers.

Make adaptations to suit your students' needs.

Make the most of the free activities shared in the Science Week Activity packs or on the CREST Resource Library.

Collaborate with as many people as possible and empower all staff to take responsibility over some of the events.

Make use of your own resources – parents, friends, families and local business.

It's a great opportunity to show your students that they can be scientist, by getting them doing science and by showcasing scientists.

Get together to think about the theme and expanding what is typically thought of as 'science' to shift perceptions.
